

Change of reporting segmentation

In the upcoming Q4 and Annual Report 2025 on 27 February 2026, Trifork Group reorganizes its reporting segmentation from 'Inspire', 'Build' and 'Run' to two segments: 'Products' and 'Services'. The former Build segment will be renamed Services, while the former Run and Inspire segments will be combined into a single segment, Products. This update reflects Trifork's continued shift toward a more product-led business model, as well as the previously communicated scale-back of the conference activities in Inspire.

Products focus on building scalable revenue streams through proprietary software, third-party software, and productized solutions delivered under recurring contracts.

Services focus on developing new solutions together with customers and integrating them into existing infrastructure. Services include advanced engineering, AI readiness, digital transformation initiatives, modernization of architectures, cloud-native development, and complex integrations across mission-critical systems.

The historical recast financial information of the updated segmentation is available at <https://investor.trifork.com/research-coverage/>.

The Group's historical consolidated financial results are not affected by the change in segmentation.
