FOM Technologies is proud to announce ES France as our official distributor in France. This new partnership strengthens our ability to serve the French research community by providing direct access to FOM's full range of high-precision slot-die coating solutions.

Founded in 1963, ES France has built a strong reputation for supplying advanced instrumentation and innovative technology to industrial and academic markets. Their deep technical expertise and established customer network make them an ideal partner for supporting French universities, research institutes, and industry leaders in accelerating their thin-film materials research.

"We are very pleased to welcome ES France into our growing network of international distributors," says Peter Skade, CSO at FOM Technologies. "Their technical knowledge, market reach, and dedication to innovation align perfectly with our mission to empower researchers with the tools they need to push the boundaries of material science."

Through this collaboration, French customers will benefit from local support, faster response times, and access to expert advice, helping them achieve greater precision, reproducibility, and scalability in their research.

We look forward to working closely with ES France and seeing the breakthroughs emerging from laboratories across France equipped with FOM Technologies slot-die coaters.
