4. Remuneration | Executive Board

Due to the size of the company, no remuneration committee has been established. In accordance with the Remuneration Policy, the remuneration, to the members of the Executive Board, is based on market practice, the scope and background of the work, the required qualifications and the results of each individual member of the Executive Board. Likewise, the Company's interest in attracting, motivating and retaining qualified members of the Executive Board in general must be considered in the determination of the remuneration.

Members of the Executive Board may also be granted certain non-monetary benefits, including customary non-monetary employee benefits such as newspapers subscription etc., if approved by the Board of Directors.

The Board of Directors determines the guidelines for pension and severance. The ordinary notice period by the Company may not exceed 6 months. A member of the Executive Board may terminate his or her position with an ordinary notice period of at least 6 months.

The total value of severance payments (including salary during the notice period) may not exceed an amount equal to one year of remuneration, including all remuneration components, for the member of the Executive Board.

The remuneration of members of the Executive Board is determined annually. The remuneration and remuneration components are approved by the Board of Directors.

Members of the Executive Board are entitled to annual remuneration in accordance with the Remuneration Policy. The total remuneration may consist of the following fixed and variable remuneration components:

- a) Fixed base remuneration (basic pay and pension contributions).
- b) The possibility of a cash bonus.
- c) The possibility of a share-based remuneration in the form of warrants.
- d) Termination and severance pay.

The selection of these components contributes to a well-balanced remuneration package that reflects (i) individual performance and responsibility of the members of the Executive Board in relation to established objectives for both short- and long-term periods, and (ii) the Company's overall performance.

The Executive Board's short- and long-term incentive programs are directly linked to the financial objectives that support the Company's strategy. The composition of the remuneration for each executive is set with a view to contributing to the Company's ability to attract and retain competent key employees while ensuring that the Executive Board has an incentive to create additional value for the benefit of the Company's shareholders.

The terms of employment and remuneration of the Executive Board members are agreed individually between an Executive Board member and the Board of Directors.

4.1. Fixed base remuneration

The annual fixed base salary is intended to attract and retain competent executives to support the Company's ability to achieve its short- and long-term objectives.

Members of the Executive Board are entitled to receive a pension contribution of 8 % of the fixed base salary paid by the Company, whereas 4 % of the fixed base salary is paid by own contribution.

4.2. Cash bonus

Members of the Executive Board may receive an annual cash bonus, which is determined at the discretion of the Board of Directors. The purpose of the annual cash bonus is to align the interests of the individual directors with the Company's short-term objectives. Payment of the cash bonus is therefore dependent on the achievement of objectives related to the achievement of the Company's budgeted results, financial key figures and other measurable personal results of a financial or non-financial nature, which together reflect and support the Company's short-term objectives.

The amount of the cash bonus cannot exceed 30 % of the fixed base salary for the relevant member of the Executive Board.

In the financial year 2025, a total cash bonus amount of DKK 0 was paid to the Executive Board, corresponding to 100 % of the total cash bonus payout of the Company.

4.3. Share-based remuneration

Members of the Executive Board may be offered participation in warrant programs based on a discretionary assessment made by the Board of Directors. Participants are offered the opportunity to acquire shares in the Company at their own expense at a pre-defined price at a given time. Members of the Executive Board are offered participation in warrant programs as part of the remuneration to ensure the Executive Board's focus on value creation and the achievement of the Company's long-term objectives.

4.4. Termination and severance pay

Employment contracts with members of the Executive Board may be ongoing i.e. without a fixed termination date and are subject to a maximum notice period of 6 months. The total value of severance pay (including salary during the notice period) may not exceed one years' remuneration, including all remuneration components, for the member of the Executive Board concerned.

4.5. Claw-back

The Company may decide to reduce or claw back incentive remuneration in whole or in part in cases where a cash bonus or other incentive remuneration is due or has already been awarded to a member of the Executive Board, if the background data or accounts for the cash bonus or incentive remuneration subsequently prove to be incorrect, or if the Executive Board member is deemed to have caused significant losses to the Company by intentional abuse of his or her position or by gross negligence.
