Investor News no. 65 – 2026 | Copenhagen, the 27th of May 2026

Short update regarding media coverage.

The company became aware this evening that its American subsidiary, FOM Technologies Inc., has been mentioned in some media reports as a defendant in a dispute between two external parties.

To prevent market rumors, we wish to clarify that neither FOM Technologies A/S nor any of its subsidiaries have been formally served with a lawsuit as of today's date. Furthermore, the company is not aware of being a party to any form of legal dispute.

The company is currently investigating the circumstances surrounding this media coverage and will update the market as soon as there is further clarification.
