Company Announcement No. 6-2021

Copenhagen, May 26, 2021

Today, RISMA Systems A/S (RISMA) and the LegalTech company, Asgot P/S, owned by DAHL Law Firm's partners announce a new partnership focused on offering joint solutions towards Asgot's customers based on RISMA's GRC-platform combined with the legal knowledge and frameworks from Asgot's partners.

For Asgot, the partnership is a natural extension of their strategy in offering new digital solutions together with their traditional legal services and consulting – without becoming software developers themselves.

“With legaltech on the rise, it is only natural for us as a law firm with deeply specialized professional legal knowledge to find our path in a future where tech and advisory continuously will blend naturally together. We have chosen to embrace legaltech at this early stage, and we believe it will be a future differentiator for Asgot and our clients in DAHL Law Firm”, says Henning von Lillienskjold, Managing Partner.

“Our second strategic choice is to pursue a partnership strategy, where we identify the best technologies suited for our ambitious plans – and we found RISMA to be a strategic partner that can support this plan.” says Henning von Lillienskjold. “RISMA has a proven track record both as platform and company, and their flexible platform is geared to support our many current projects and future ideas, where we are able to provide legal knowledge into RISMA's extensive platform for governance, risk & compliance. This means that we can ensure both quality, availability and usability in our solutions.”

For RISMA, the partnership is a natural step in its strategic market development, where partnerships are a central part of the expansion plan set out in connection with RISMA's listing on Nasdaq First North Growth Market Denmark in March 2021.

“Over the past years, we have developed RISMA's platform with the purpose of being able to support advisors who wish to supplement their income from billable hours with recurring income from software sales. We believe this may become a mega trend and want to be on the forefront as a preferred partner to all types of advisors. The partnership with Asgot and DAHL Law Firm fits perfectly into this strategy.”, says Lars Nybro Munksgaard, RISMA CEO & Founder. “We are definitely impressed with Asgot's commitment towards digital solutions and services in the legal space, and we look forward in bringing new solutions to the market with an ambitious, innovative and growing law firm.”

RISMA and Asgot have identified three initial projects expected to be pursued in 2021, and both companies expect the partnership to have a positive business potential both short and long term.
