Company Announcement No. 13-2021

Copenhagen, October 25, 2021

RISMA, ASGOT and Contractbook are now partnering to build, launch and market a joint legal service platform targeted towards trade associations. With legal services, a custom contract engine and a policy management solution, the aim is to support Danish small and medium sized companies and organizations with a next level digital legal service platform.

In addition to the legal service platform, future subscribers to the platform will also be able to purchase additional services from all three partners. For RISMA the partnership means exposure and potential upselling opportunities of all additional solutions in RISMA's GRC Suite: Privacy & GDPR, ISMS & ISO27001, Risk Management, ESG & Sustainability, Internal & Financial controls, Contract & Vendor Management, and Incident Management.

"This collaboration is a new way of thinking legal-tech. We combine the strengths of three strong companies into one platform, making it easier and more accessible for companies and organizations to navigate the many disciplines within governance, risk & compliance, contract management and the use of qualified contracts", says Lars Nybro Munksgaard, CEO & Founder of RISMA. "We are happy to add Contractbook in the RISMA ecosystem, and we are sure that the collaboration on this solution will be the first of more between RISMA, Contractbook and ASGOT. We are of course also happy that this marks yet another milestone in the existing ASGOT partnership, and we are looking forward to the continued market development with ASGOT."
